I've just hit my early 30s and I've had a very successful career in medicine and global health. I was a Fulbright scholar and in addition to my academics was an international level Olympic athlete and model. I've been so blessed in my professional life, but I'm still waiting for the right relationship so I can have a family of my own.

Me: 5'8", blond hair, fair skin (Scandinavian background), blue-green eyes. High SAT scores, Duke education, medical school. Very energetic and creative, extrovert, social butterfly.

I'm interested in finding a person or couple I could donate eggs to, and in return, they can help me fund a round of IVF that will allow me to preserve some eggs for myself and my future fertility.

More details and pictures available on request. I believe families are built by loving individuals of all kinds- LGBT friendly, open to family structures of any variety as long as their is a genuine interest in bringing a child to the world to be.
