We are seeking a committed author to write articles for a News/General-Interest online digest website. You may choose to write on one of the ideas from our list of topic suggestions, or you may write on a topic of your own choosing (so long as it is sufficiently intriguing)!

This is a Work-From-Home position where you will be able to choose your own schedule and set your own deadlines.

Our authors are paid based on the pageviews of their articles. Each article you write will be displayed on a separate page of one of our publishing websites, along with some Google AdSense advertisements. Each time a reader views or clicks on an advertisement while they are reading your article, you'll make money! Then at the end of each month, we tally up your share of the advertisement revenue and send you a check. It's really that simple, and it allows you a unique opportunity to earn passive income!

If you are interested or like more info, message!! :)
