Domestic violence cases are serious cases. and can result in jail time

The possible penalties for a domestic violence conviction can include jail time, fines, costs, probation, and rehabilitative classes.

You could face a no contact order with the victim of the domestic violence, eviction from your primary residence, and intervention from Child Protective Services.

You could face a civil personal protection order issued against you.

You need experienced and aggressive criminal defense attorney Mark J. LeBlanc to handle your case and reduce the potential impact of being charged and/or convicted of domestic violence.

The Law Office of Mark J. LeBlanc has won multiple dismissals of domestic violence cases, as well as additional positive resolutions keeping criminal convictions off clients' records in domestic violence cases.
