QR Code Link to This Post I need help giving my daughter her first christmas. I am a young full-time mom having a hard time finding a job right now without a car or phone. My fiance works hard but we have to pay rent and get his car fixed this month and we lost our food stamps. Because of his work schedule we can't find a way to get down there during business hours to fix it. I'm honestly stressing about food to much to even try and get presents at all for anyone.

When we are stable and on our feet I plan on helping someone in this situation to pay it:)
