Both cages have a slide-out removable divider panel, so you can use each cage as one big cage or as two smaller cages. I used them each as single cages, the larger one for a macaw and the smaller one for an Amazon. Both of these birds now live in Florida. I can provide recent health records to show that the birds are/were free of all illness or disease. I have scrubbed these cages top to bottom with Dawn soap and vinegar, so they are practically spotless.

Due to their size, you may need to disassemble the cages in order to get them into your house , but it does not take long to take them apart and put them back together, especially if you have a cordless drill and a friend to help you hold the panels in place. I have retained the original assembly instructions and I can even send you with some spare hardware. These cages will make some birds (and their parronts) VERY happy this Christmas.

I did have to make a small repair to one of the bowl holders on this cage. It is a small spot-weld that you probably wouldn't even notice and a bird could not access since it would always be behind the bowl. If it bothers you, this is a part that could easily be removed or.
