QR Code Link to This Post For the past 8 years I have operated (and still do) a successful online marketing, web development, etc business serving small businesses.

STOP!! I am NOT looking for someone with "web design" skills. I have that covered!

I have paid attention to developments in IT for this same market.

The thought was ... perhaps there is room to "partner" with an IT Guy who is looking to grow and also expand my own business.

I'm talking IT stuff here, networks, cloud, servers, service calls, repairs... The stuff that small businesses need to keep themselves running.

Someone who has a strong knowledge of the business and the market.

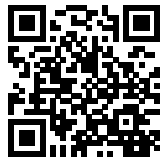

Someone who enjoys performing the work, but would rather not deal with the sales process.

My strengths are in market development, sales, etc.

Reply with a little bit about you and lets take it from.
