QR Code Link to This Post While I understand how a person can think they're a web developer when they set-up websites for people. I'm sorry If you buy a theme someone else developed and you set it up for money, your web configure'r (lol).

I'm looking for serious PHP and JavaScript developers that understand the WordPress environment. I own a company here in town that needs custom website design & development and we're expanding. We have the work as well as one project (my baby) that will revolutionize the Cosmetology industry. We're looking for real developers who can be given tasks, left to their own devices, finish the task. I need a firm price, Half to start upfront and the other upon completion. The work must be done in a matter of days. please contact
