Repair, Service and Installation A garage door is the largest moving object in your home and because of the large number of small parts, its installation is highly technical. Connecting the springs can be particularly dangerous and proper installation is critical to the performance of your door. Professional installers can typically install a door in a few hours and are careful to make sure safety requirements are met. Installations by most homeowners typically span several days and cause much frustration. In addition, incorrect installation can void certain warranties, so we recommend a professional company like ours handle the job for you. With years of experience installing and servicing garage doors, garage door springs and openers, we know how to do the job right! Expert garage door service and courteous, friendly people, and a wide range of services: Spring replacement, Garage door repair, Garage door installation, Garage door parts, Garage door replacement, Cable replacement, Garage door off track, Garage door service, Garage door cases
