QR Code Link to This Post We are in search of several ladies to tend a booth at various videogame based trade shows and expos in the area. You do not need to have any experience for this. Just don't be shy!

Some of the tasks included with this gig are tending the booth during expo hours and having your picture taken with some of the attendees. Be friendly and mingle with those that stop by. You do not need to have any product knowledge as we will have staff on hand dedicated to that.

The pay for this is $200 a day and will include a free uniform and food while at the events.

When responding to this ad, please tell us a little about yourself, your experience (if any), and please include a few recent pictures of yourself.!
