We are an established technology service provider.

We are looking to bring on board some unpaid full and part-time student interns.

We can give you the skills you need to get ahead.

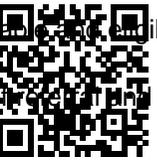

If you are a student, unemployed, need hands-on experience, or just need a resume bullet this may be a good opportunity for you.

Typically when our company sells new computer to a client, our technicians need helpers installing them as well as removing the old equipment from service. We have had great success with interns helping us do this while at the same time providing a good learning and hands-on experience to the intern.

Our previous internships lasted from one (1) to three (3) months and they went on to jobs with NASA, Lockheed, and other major employers once they had proven hands-on experience from us.

We only support short-term internships as we expect interns to gain knowledge and experience and move on.

What we are offering is real-world hands-on experience for a short period of time on configuring fixing computers, laptops, printers, and electronics, etc. and real-world knowledge towards your A+, Network+, Microsoft, and other real-world certifications.
