Ladies- Want to get started in boudoir modeling, but haven't had any luck? Have you fallen for ads which promise thousands of dollars in a week, and left with no money and no idea where your pictures are?

The truth is that boudoir modeling is an independent industry, and what you need to get started is not a manager or agent, but a professional quality portfolio and the willingness to market yourself like crazy.

I can help with the first part. I have 5+ years of experience, and have helped many models in the DC area build their careers. If you are a female between 18-25 and would like to get started, please contact me via e-mail. Portfolios are absolutely free (with the possibility of pay for the shoot) as is any consultation.

If you would like to receive a response, please include your age and a few photos, including at least one head.
