Hi! I am Cammy Jicha, owner and lead photographer at BlackSilver Imaging! First off, I LOVE shooting weddings! I love all forms of photography, but shooting weddings is my favorite. I love how each wedding is unique like each couple is unique. When I photograph a wedding my goal is to capture the essence of the day. I want to tell the story of your love and excitement through photos. I think wedding photography allows me to access all my skills: capturing spur of the moment events, posing creatively, lighting in tricky situations, highlighting the details and most of all, expressing the love of the couple!

How I shoot:

Just like each couple and wedding is unique, I have my own unique style of shooting. I love to know as much about the couple I'm shooting as possible and their vision for their special day. I have shot enough weddings -- over 300 -- to know what works. I capture weddings in a primarily photojournalistic way. I won't stop and pose you in the middle of your Ceremony or Reception; instead, I'll be capturing the emotion of the moment. I take charge in a fun and relaxed way during the time you set aside for formal portraits. And of course, I will be capturing all those key moments in a creative, artistic way. I am always keeping up with the latest wedding photography trends and techniques. And to make BlackSilver Imaging complete, I have a talented crew of second shooters and videographers.
