The following is a description of the pool table combo that I have up in the for sale section on here. Again this is for the pool table top, ping pong table top, balls, rack, stick, and hardware. It does NOT include the benches or pool table legs.

I won an auction for a brand new in the box Newport 7-ft Pool Table Combo which consisted of pool, ping pong, and benches. The auction was for 1 of 2 boxes. I called up the company that was on the box, Blue Wave, and asked them what the contents of box 1 were as I just wanted the table itself and didn't care about the benches. They told me it was the pool table top, ping pong top, hardware (screws, pool stick, balls, rack, etc), and the legs. Based on that information I made the purchase. Well now that I went to pick it up it came with the pool table top, ping pong top, and hardware (screws, pool stick, balls, rack, etc) however it didn't come with the pool table legs but came with the bench legs (yet the benches are in box 2 which wasn't part of the auction.). So with that being said I am selling the pool table top and combo with NO legs. You can build a set of saw horses out of 2x4s and set it on there or build your own legs out of 4x4s or whatever. I only bid on the auction thinking I could sell it for about $700 with no benches (currently $950+ online). So since this has no legs, or benches, I'd like to get $400 out if it but am open to reasonable offers.

PS: The following is a description from the website. Again there are no benches or legs with this.
