Hi,I am really looking to find someone that can help me to identify the insides of this DESKTOP PC. This was given as a gift to my 16 year old son as a present from my ex boyfriend. He claimed that my son would be thrilled with this computer his father and himself built for my son. He stated it was going to be so fast and would be the best computer he ever owned. Long story short my exe is and has been hacking into my phone and tracking my every move and location. This computer fell over and only then were we made aware of the inside of this computer that was not in any way even plugged in to half of it? Im just wondering if this is a type of hidden camera or voice recording device of some sort? When I look at it,I am clueless and have not one idea what is what? Im just needing any type of advice please! Thank
