QR Code Link to This Post This car has served me well through the years but unfortunately it's time to move on. It's an ideal starter car for someone who may want to work on the body as the passenger front bumper has seen some minor cosmetic damage. Another thing to note is that the fuel gauge doesn't read so unfortunately you have to watch the miles and reset every time you fill up at the gas station. I'm not a car expert by any means and I've never run into any problems with the car myself. Runs just fine I just put new tires on it as well. The warranty is pretty great if you ever get a flat too! It's also a great commuter car.

Email me if interested and we can work out a meeting location that works for us both.
Thank!
