QR Code Link to This Post I am currently looking for a sub contract handyman, a true handyman someone with experience in being a handyman. Must have own truck, tools, and be able to receive an address and head to work and complete the job the first time the right way. Some sales experience to help up-sale would be nice but not needed. I have an overload of handyman calls from plumbing, tile, electrical, trim, changing door handles, carpentry, painting, drywall patching to just hanging TV mounts and pictures. Some are very quick jobs some all day projects. I can give a couple a day to as many as you can handle but you must be able to be on time, keep customers happy and enjoy what you do. I need someone who can start right away if this sounds like a good fit for you please respond with the types of work you can do, what part of the valley you live in and a contact number and time I can call and I will be in touch asap I need someone to start yesterday. Thanks for reading
