QR Code Link to This Post Sick of not understanding what is going on during chemistry class??? Want to understand the material better before the final? Need to prepare for Med school

I can help you!!!

I graduated from Cal with Honors in Chemistry, and then I finished my doctoral degree from Massachusetts Institute of Technology

I have been a teaching fellow for hundreds of students in general chemistry and organic chemistry. I know the common mistakes and frustrations that students have, and more importantly I can get you results! I have reference of my students who went from C's to A's in both AP chemistry and Honor Chemistry classes. In addition, they also received 730-800 on the SAT II Subject as well as 5's on the AP Exam. I have even worked with students who won spots to represent their school in attending the prestigious chemistry olympiad competition.

Since I received my Degrees in the area of organic chemistry, I am also very familiar with different types of organic reactions, mechanism and laboratory techniques. I simply love organic chemistry. I have worked with and continue to work with college students of various levels.

I have tutored high school students and college students from the bay area. As such, I am familiar with the curricula in these schools.
