QR Code Link to This Post hello we recently added 2 rat terriers to our family they are both girls sisters. They are full of energy and very playful. My husband and I are finding it too be too much on our older dog. They are about 8 pounds each and I'm pretty sure they aren't going to get much bigger. I am hoping to find them a nice home with a fenced in yard because as I said they are very playful. there is a re homing fee hoping they will have a forever home. They are very close I would like them to go together but I do understand if that does not happen. Thank you. They also have had both rounds of puppy shots and have had rabies shots and are crate trained. They will not need shots till next year. I can also give you vets name to.
