This is an open call to all ladies (and even guys) who wish to help raise money for breast cancer research. I am putting together a limited run 14-month calendar to be sold in select locations featuring local people who are willing to "Dare to Bare" their breasts for a good cause. I have several vendors in the area lined up and willing to carry the calendars. I generally only sell them in October. 75% of the proceeds go to fund cancer research. The other 25% is split evenly among the models. The administrative costs and printing are fully covered and any time I use professional photographers, they must donate their time.

I have seen great success with selfies and I imagine this next calendar will be the same.

I am proud to say that I have done this for many years in other cities and found great success.

I am looking for any age, any body type, and any race. All I ask is a passion to see this awful thing wiped out.

If you are interested, please submit one headshot along with your contact information (so you can receive your portion of the sales) and a little bit about yourself (for the back of the cover) and at least two photos of you "Daring to Bare." Often ladies will hold up a sign that says "I Dare to Bare" but that isn't necessary.

The important thing is that these be authentic photos of real people wanting to help find a.
