QR Code Link to This Post I have a 90lbs 2 year old pitbull..

He has some issues, but is an amazing dog. He is my son. His name is ranger. He is dog friendly. He doesn't care for men, strangers, or aggression... He is protective. He is not a bad dog by any means, he is well mannered, he doesn't like to be dirty, he doesn't like his food dirty, he doesn't like fire and he doesn't like guns. Loves to run and eat and play. Loves to be under the covers and cuddle, he is a great pillow. He doesn't like to be alone. He plays rough and because of his size I would prefer if you have small children that you not take him as he doesn't know his own strength. I would prefer someone with time and experience and overall someone who will love and take care of him in a way that he will know he is cherished. I've been backed into a position where I'm no longer able to take care of or provide for him. If you are interested please contact me with details about your and your home and any questions you might have. I am asking a rehoming fee for him, it can be negotiated for the right.
