QR Code Link to This Post Street art should have credit like a gallery... Public spaces could be seen like a showroom... No artist should be starving!

My company is trying to map the world of Art & Design so all "Creators" are connected and discoverable. We are putting items on the map, revealing them in context, and giving credit to their creators. We answer: Who made [that purple couch] in [the ace hotel]?

I need creative design ideas to reveal this connection... Without using any text, I want to SEE the difference between: items, space, & creator. And create a new type of by-line that credits and connects them.

While the site looks great so far, I think there are MORE CREATIVE minds out there... So I wanted to ask the Craigslist community for your help! Do you have any ideas? Feedback? I'd love to connect with.
