QR Code Link to This Post I have a one year old male hedgehog that I am looking to rehome to a very loving and responsible household. I have everything he needs including cage, whole bag of food, bedding, and all accessories. I just don't think I am able to give him the attention that he requires with my schedule...it's upsetting but I would rather someone is able to give him more attention. He is socialized, but a little hesitant at first but once you get him out (as long as it's not in the middle of a sleep cycle) he's usually okay and good to go.

$125 for rehoming fee and everything I have for him. Oh and he has papers!

I also do have extra things like a house, water bottle, wheel, and a hamster ball that he is currently not using but you may have if you.
