Does anyone know of any spaces in Philadelphia, preferably center city or Northeast Philly, where there's a piano (the artist prefers a grand piano) that we can use to record a live performance? My team and I want to shoot live footage of an artist performing acoustic versions of songs off their upcoming album for promotional purposes. Atmosphere is everything. Please let me know of any good spots that are either free to use with permission or what the cost of renting the space with the piano is. We prefer to have private access without being interrupted so we can shoot without distraction.

Thank!
