QR Code Link to This Post If you're a freelance translator or know someone who is, we're building a network of professionals that we will be contacting for work. The content will depend on the client, but could be anything from medical to software to legal.

Native-speaking professionals will be given preference, followed closely by non-natives professionals.

*If you are a returned missionary with little to no experience but are looking for an opportunity to break into the translation/localization industry, please include examples of translation work (both source and target languages). There may still be a place for!
