QR Code Link to This Post I have my 2012 Dodge Journey up for sale, tho I like this car, I never drive it that often anymore. I still pay on it.

Looking to see what I can get, it needs a little work, a few minor problems, nothing that effects the performance of it tho.

It will need a new seatbelt reel, the old one will not ravel in (drivers side) but still operates fine.

Front shock on drivers side needed.

Probably a set of tires in the future.

You can take over lease, or cash me out.

Asking 15,000 for it. These vehicles are hot right now, so I know despite the minor problems, it's worth more then I've posted.

Replacement bumper on it, will need fixed and mounted better.

This would make a great vehicle for families, or the momz out there.

If interested, just email me, & we can.
