QR Code Link to This Post Why Spend money you don't need to spend? There's no reason to spend a minimal of $150 to $300 or more taking your laptop and/or desktop to a computer repair shop.

Are you constantly getting random pop ups when you open your browser? Is your computer running slower than what it normally does? These are all minor issues to fix that computer repair shops and people like "The Geek Squad" over charge you for. Would you rather pay 75% less than what you would normally would pay to fix it?

Well you're reading the right post.

I am serving the Metro Milwaukee area getting your laptops and/or desktops running back like new. Rather it's Malware or Adware I can get your computer running again and I only charge you $50.

Want to hear something even better?

If I can not fully get it running, but I am able to remove most of the issues I will only charge you half the price and give you a recommendation to a tech. (Notice: my price does not reflect the price that the tech will charge, I am an independent operator.)

So before you sit there and spend more money than needed (Christmas is right around the corner) shoot me an email or a call with some details on your issue.

You wouldn't believe how minor the issue could be and how easy it will be to fix it.
