QR Code Link to This Post Im Jc, 29, from Boston. Figured I'd check this place out, hoping to maybe make a new friend or two. Have become a bit of a homebody and would like to find an activity partner to do things with from time to time. Whether that be going out to the movies, bowling, exploring the city, or sometimes even staying in for a netflix marathon. 420 friendly but not needed. Maybe there are hobbies you enjoy that you'd be willing to share with me, always open to trying new things. I'm also currently on a weight loss journey and it would be good to have someone to do that with as well. I've been struggling with my weight my entire life and have started to do something about it. A while back I had a good run with it, I believe it was in large part because i had someone to do it with. Doesn't necessarily mean we have to workout together, just to communicate with someone who's going through the same struggles would b great. could compare notes as far as whats working for us and whats not, or anything really. Maybe after we get 2 know each other a bit we could actually workout together, grab a protein shake or something. Well if your interested in making a new friend or weight loss buddy or both hit me with an email. Tell me a little about yourself and if you can send a pic that would b good, mine are below. if u have some type of instant messenger like kik, or something u can send that too.
