I teach up through graduate level mathematics, computer science and finance. I'm proficient in a bunch of languages including Python, R, Java, C/C++, VBA, Assembler as well as big data languages such as spark, hadoop, and others.

Having previously worked on wall street, I also tutor finance and actuarial science as well -- including Excel!

Credentials:
I have a Yale PhD in biostatistics, a masters in statistics from Columbia and a triple major in math, comp sci and finance in college. Typically, I prefer more advanced students as the material is more interesting but motivated high school students are welcome.

Guarantee:
If after the first 30 minutes you feel I haven't helped, you don't need to pay:-).
