QR Code Link to This Post I work for a apartment complex in Evanston where this item was left. After trying do a few weeks to get ahold of the original owner and having no luck the item became mine. This dose work and everything dose power on. The system is older and is password protected but everything is still in great condition. I dont know much about this besides what I have researched online. I would like to sell it as a full setup as pictured. It would need formatted of what data may be on in. All the drives are there but 1. The drivers vary in gb size. There are a few 300gb. Some 18gb. A few 150 gb. And others. There are 4 different DVD/cd disks drives. What all is there is as follows.

Netgear 10 port Ethernet switch. Model sw510

Dell poweredge 2650 model smp01

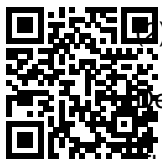

Belkin omniview pro 2 16 port kvm switch. Is mounted in place. Had the cords which connect this to the dell poweredge 2650 along with the the two 1750s if I'm correct. This switch allows you to switch between which server you want to run. .

(2) dell poweredge 1750 model IMU

Dell poweredge 1650

Dell poweredge 750

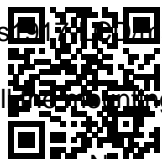

(2) dell power vault 200s. These have 8 hard drive slots each. They plug into the dell poweredge 1750s.

(2) Power strip model M's 110V 15A 1250W 121 is mounted on the left side track.

Small Ps. 600 cc engine with all the mounting gear already in place. 21 wide, 40 in tall, stands 48 in apart. It's on wheels and can roll around.

The monitor is in great condition. Not sure of the brand will update when I can. Also has a keyboard. This is mounted at the very top and it slides out and in.

There is a total of 24 hard drives if I counted correctly.

Everything still has the original manufacturing tickers which tells the model and serial number.

Extra cables as well. Along with all the keys. There are also 2 extra ram cards.

When I plugged it in and started it all up it said it was running a windows server Version 2003. But because I don't know the password I can't go into the system any further..

If you have any questions. Ask and I'll try to answer the best I can. I'm asking 2000 for this but will except offers as well. I did do research and know what all this goes for being used like it is. Also the buyer will have to pick up. Bring help this is super heavy. I may consider selling things separate it would depend on what you wanted and what the offer was. Please text or email me. My number is . I can send more pictures it needed. Will also update with more pictures when I get the chance as it's stored as a friends.
