QR Code Link to This Post I'm Matt Antoniades, writer and comedian from the skit series Outstanding Switchboard Service (the first several matches if you look on google). I have a bunch of scripts to flip into full on internet skits and what I need are actors. The scripts are all structured as phone conversations and the filming is DIY. You'll shoot your lines and reaction shots yourself, your co-star on the other side of the country does to same, send it to me for editing, and that's it. No one involved meets up.

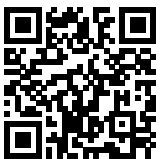

Interested to see what these skits look like? Take a look:

There's no pay, my apologies for that. You'll remember that I said I was a writer and comedian. That means there's no money to pay out. But you will have your name and acting skills seen by people all across the world wide web.

Casting is going on for many characters, female and male, age 20 and up. Let me know if this project piques your interest.!
