ABOUT ME:

My name is Joshua Turner, I have been singing and playing instruments seriously since I was 16 years old. My styles are mainly rock & folk, although I was trained in many singing styles including opera. I got my vocal training from the prestigious Berklee College of Music in Boston where I studied voice for 2 years. I was trained by the best vocal teachers in the country and I have lots of Berklee curriculum to base my teachings off of. I also attended Musicians Institute for guitar.

MY TEACHING STYLE:

My teaching style is very simple and to the point, the goal is to learn how to use your instrument. I don't like to get too technical about it because it can actually slow your progression down if you do. The simplest way that I was taught to sing is that "if it hurts, you are singing wrong." That is why vocal exercises are so important to keep your voice strong so you can build stamina and avoid pain, I also have audio vocal exercises that I can provide. I don't like to put people down while they are learning because I know that singing and playing an instrument is a really sensitive thing and that could cause the singer or musician to stop singing or playing completely, which defeats the whole purpose. I have experience in all forms of music from live rock shows, to teaching music in pre schools. I teach confidence!

THE BENEFITS OF MY MUSIC LESSONS:

- Better grades
- Higher self esteem
- More confidence

You are actually learning all of the above things, while simultaneously learning your instrument! If you follow the lesson plan that I provide you, my GUARANTEE is that you will become a noticeably better musician and singer and unlock a new found confidence within 4 lessons (1 month). Schedule your lesson today!

BECOME A BETTER SINGER, BECOME A STRONGER YOU!:

I have found more and more that learning to sing is much deeper than just singing, it is also learning confidence, how to speak up for yourself in a powerful way, how to develop more of an identity within yourself, and often times, how to break through emotional blocks that we have all put on ourselves at a young age. Did you know that being up on stage in front of an audience is the #1 fear in the world, AND DEATH IS #2! So what that shows is that it takes a brave person to dedicate themselves to learning how to sing in front of people, or even in front of just themselves! It is a great way for children, teens, and even adults to become stronger, happier, and more confident individuals not only in singing, but in their every day lives. I have seen this confidence blossom over and over especially with the children and teens that I teach, and it is extremely fulfilling for both me, as well as them! So I encourage you to pass the gift of learning how to sing on to friends, family and loved ones!
