QR Code Link to This Post We are a have of 7 having a hard time right now. I just lost my job and I'm looking for work. my boyfriend is the only one working right now so bills are piling up and cant do anything for my kids for Christmas. We move to Laramie for the job I got fired from. And just don't want my kids not to have a Christmas because of me. my three oldest get that thing happen and know that we may not have a Christmas but the youngest are to little to know and I just don't know where to turn right now I'm stressed and heart broken. If you could help that would be amazing. Then are 13,11,9,5 and 2. Then all just want books, clothes, movies and shoes. The 5 years like trolls, dolls, frozen. The 2 year is a little boy he like paw patrol, cars, books bath toys and learning games. The three oldest are all girls and then don't don't really care. Then are all good kids I just don't know where to turn right now this lost my job couldn't have come at the worst time. Thanks for all you help. If you would like to know more just let me.
