Hopefully the right person sees it...

I am trying to help my "hubby" find a car savvy person that has the knowledge, skills and heart to give him a hand.

He is swapping the fuel tank and pump on a geo prism. He bought it to use for work while we save money for the new engine his trailblazer needs....

He has the new tank and pump.

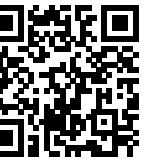

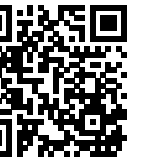

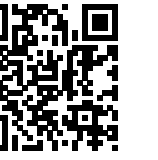

He also has set aside money to offer for labor. (Serious inquiries are more than welcomed to ask for the amount hes offering and even negotiate.) With Christmas around the corner, the majority may find cash very helpful.... on top of that, I can (and am willing to) cook ya something if you fancy a homecooked meal... as in, a batch of red or green chili or a batch of hit wings? Or, i am kinda artsy, do you need a homemade gift for someone special but impossible to buy for? Im even stocked medicinal wise if you are 420 friendly and 21+
What are you in need of? What is your price?

I have been trying to find him help with this project for a week or so now and im getting desperate enough to reach out on CL... knowing damn well all of the possible ways this could go...
Hopefully, theres enough decency and honesty in just one of you... and hopefully, im cautious enough to filter out any swindlers.....

Im great at mindless, rambling babble but im clueless at cars.

Ill be happy to recieve any advice, pointers or referrals... or to answer questions...

mail fingers... please in... quarter you... listed in... (all)...
