QR Code Link to This Post Several years ago, I built my own computer with an ASUS motherboard, a couple hard drives, an OK sound card, very basic setup. The motherboard died, I got an exact replacement, and I now have the thing completely taken apart, and I realize I am older and less wise and need help just putting it all back together. I'm happy to pay somebody who knows what they are doing $40 to come over and do it for me or with me, should take about an hour (or even less, or possibly more, the fee is a flat fee and is to get it together). I will pay you even if it doesn't work btw. But you have to have put a few systems together in your time.!
