QR Code Link to This Post looking for a christmas miracle.. I am trying to build a tiny house on some land I own while working as an unpaid caregiver for my ex-inlaws full time. My wife left me and I still take care of her grandmother 40+ hours a week without pay and this leaves me very little time to go make money and work on building my house. Things were starting to come together then my car broke down on my birthday of all days lol I could completely finish my tiny house and have a place to live for under $5k. I know there are people in the area that have the disposable income to really make a difference and help me achieve my dreams. I'm not the type to ask for charity but I have nothing and if I dont finish this house soon I will be homeless. I'm trying I just cant seem to get ahead. I'm tired of being stuck and I want to move forward but in order to move forward i need to move out of my current situation but I have nowhere to go but the streets or my half built unheated tiny house. any help will be very much
