QR Code Link to This Post Looking for someone part time for now. You must very knowledgeable in both Photoshop and Illustrator and any other programs that would help in the creation of any materials I'll need for print production. Right now I do not need a designer, just someone that can help with layouts etc. You also must know how to colorize t-shirts as in taking a photo I give you of one t-shirt, let's say in white, and then turning that one shirt it into a variety of other colors without blowing out and losing the detail, shadow and wrinkles in the shirts so they don't look flat shapes of color. Later on when I get back from vacation, I would need you to paste PNG files on those very same shirts you just colorized. There would be several thousand files for this. So be organized and willing to work and listen to my Web designer and follow his instructions on how he wants the files organized.

I work at of my home office in The Valley and that's where you'd be working, except for right now. Since I am away for about 3 weeks, I'll need to send you some files that were done incorrectly, and we will have to work mobile this one time. After this, you'll have to work at my home office. This is the exception for now as I need to get these done the right way while I'm away. The layouts are already done, so all you'd need to do is to copy the layouts and to make sure they are clean and not pixelated. If that means, combing Photoshop with Illustrator or in design, then that's how you'll need to create them. The material will require use of my logo which I will supply to you at a very high rez.

Also, be able to communicate on the phone. That means, don't be a cell phone pinhead texting junkie like the 95% of you out there are. It doesn't work when you are trying to get $hit done the right way and on time. If I can't get you on the phone and have to email you with a question or even to send you materials via DropBox, make sure you know how to confirm that you received the proper materials and or know how to answer my question[s] in a timely fashion. That means no more than a day or two. It doesn't mean you get back to me when you feel like it in a week because you have another job. You'd be surprised how many people I've hired that DO NOT know how to do the work let alone communicate like a normal human being. I'm very easy to work for and you will get paid on time.
