QR Code Link to This Post We had a fantastic party! But I don't have space to store all the stuff I bought or had made for the party. We had a casual-elegant theme with some vintage and rustic mis-matched elements. If you're into Pinterest, DIY or something rustic, here's a bunch of stuff to get you started. Everything listed (except for plates and silveware) were new, used only once, and have all been washed and laundered. Great for weddings or any parties (anniversary, birthday, holiday party). You're getting a bargain for some really nice stuff! Close-ups of table runners, tablecloths and napkins in last few photos.

For Sale:

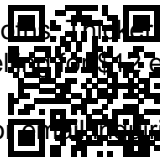

- Quality fabric napkins with metallic accents. Coordinating napkins with 4 different patterns are 18" square. They were custom-made with mitered corners for $3.75 each. Used once, and already washed. Selling for $1.50 each.
- Quality table runners with a taupe background and rusty orange velvet pattern. It is textured and the orange part is really soft. These were custom-made as well for $35 each. The fabric alone cost $20 per yard! Six of the runners measure 14" x 102" (good for 6 ft or 8 ft tables). One of the runners measures 14" x 130" (good for 8 ft or 10 ft tables). Used once, and already washed. Selling for $15 each.
- Lot of mismatched porcelain and ceramic dinner plates, and little tea/ appetizer/ salad plates. They were collected over a period of time. You get it all in one lot. There are at least 60 dinner plates and 70 small plates. You'll pay at least $1.50 to $3 per plate even at a thrift store. Save time, save money...Get the whole lot of 130++ plates for $75.
- Lot of mismatched flatware. There are mostly forks (at least 60 pieces), and a handful each of spoons and knives. Like the plates, they were collected for a period of time. You'll pay $1 each at the dollar store for less quality forks, and $0.50 to $1 each at thrift stores. Save time and money...Get the whole lot for $20.
