I am an experienced nanny and babysitter who is new to the area of Philadelphia. Having worked as a nanny and babysitter for 3+ years, I love what I do and would love to make your life easier by caring for your children!

Coming from a large family myself, I have grown up understanding what it means to care for others. I am comfortable with pets and light cleaning (tiding up after children). Whether your child is a new napper and squirmer, an outdoor tag player, an indoor gamer, or an ABC learner, I will be right there with them every step of the way to make sure that I'm making their day just a little more fun!

Helping and serving families and communities has been a passion of mine for a long time, which is one of the reason I studied education in school. Even when growing up there were many young families whose kids I babysat and interacted with on a near daily bases, which only expanded as I grew older and began working and volunteering with educational groups, community groups, and more.

As a nanny I am my focus is to help the parents to keep their children safe, sound, and happy. There are many activities like art, sport, game, etc I can suggest or introduce to entertain a child or siblings, and I am also open to what the family may want or need, including taking them to after school activities.
