QR Code Link to This Post Hello. I have a young mile monitor to rehome. She is less than 1 year old. I took her in from someone she was a gift too and she became too much for. She is pretty big already, and needs someone with some experience. She's a little defensive because they didn't handle her much. She eats well and is healthy. I cannot include and enclosed because I don't have one that fits her, literally. She is in an old snake tank I had for now (which is where my level of expertise is, and I will accept trades) and she barely fits ðŸ¯" asking $95 negotiable to the right home. She needs love. She has only bit like twice, and she mostly bluffs by hissing and whipping her tail lol looking to rehome asap since as I said, we have no room for her. My emails come to my phone, I will respond
