QR Code Link to This Post Indie game studio called Titanic Games is currently developing a horror game and is in need of 4 voice actors: 2 female and 2 male.

It is not a lot of dialogue, just about half a page for each character. For the female voice, they're hoping for something deep- maybe along the lines of Nurse Ratched from "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest".

The other female voice actor will be like a young nurse, but with a strong personality. Voice is up to interpretation.

For the male voices, they're hoping for a deep male sounding voice like Don Draper from "Mad Men", but both characters should sound different as according to their personalities. So, they will probably need two separate male voice actors.

If you are interested in one of these roles, please contact by e-mail for more information.

P.S: Applicants must own their own sound recording equipment. Director may have an alternative, but it is highly recommended that you already own your own equipment.
