I have a 2003 Infiniti G35 Sedan Automatic for sale but rather trade. It has 144,xxx miles. I use the car as a daily driver. Did maintenance work on it recently such as rear brake pads oil change. also did repair work on the transmission (shifts perfectly now)

Really rather trade for a Subaru more pictures upon request.

I won't be able to pick up phone calls due to work.

Pros: recent Maintenance done such as oil change, rear break pads and transmission professionally repaired

K&N intake system (have oem also)
 Bose system
 Subwoofer in trunk

Cons

Title is clean but salvage history (I don't know I believe original owner had the accident)

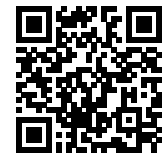

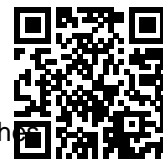

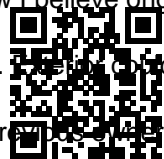

Interior is clean but is in bit of bad shape. I don't use car wax.

front bumper is black primer like primer. I drove in city and on highway rear bumper has scratch

Traction control is off due to either alignment or steering angle sensor.

Leaks during heavy rain (will try to fix before purchase)

Looking for Wrx Subaru or Audi A4 can throw cash on top. Will entertain other cars like BMW AWD or Mercedes 4matic (if coarse can add cash on top if need be)
