QR Code Link to This Post Hi I'm a single mom starting over from the bottom up. I just got a new job and I'm in need of a reliable, affordable, fun and loving sitter/daycare. I'm new to Rhode Island so I don't have anyone to ask. I have a 5 year old girl (not in kindergarten yet) and a 3 year old boy. I live in West Greenwich and work in Greenville so anywhere around those towns or in between is good. It would have to be at your house, I live in a trailer on my cousin's property and they don't allow visitors. I'm an LPN and work in a nursing home and my hours are a little wacky. I work a rotating schedule that is a two week cycle that just repeats itself. I work two double shifts 7am-11:30pm and one single shift 7am-3:30pm a week. I do work every other weekend and those days are 16 hour days (I'm hoping to get it changed soon it's too exhausting) My kids are pretty easy and go to bed early so on the long days I will send PJs, blankets etc. Pay is negotiable and it would be nice if they could get to their preschool (head start) but not a huge deal they know how much I need this job and are happy that it's only two days that they are missing. I really hope I find someone because I really need this job to survive. Thanks for reading and have a good!
