QR Code Link to This Post This beatmaking/sampling/synthesis tool is a lot of fun and very easy to learn and use, but it turns out that I'm just pretty terrible at making beats, so I'm selling to retreat to my comfort zone of guitar. This particular unit was bought new in October, and I'm including the stand and all hardware as well as the standard version of Komplete (to be transferred via Native Instruments' license transfer service following sale). This is a worthwhile upgrade from the lighter Komplete 11 Select included free with the hardware. Also included but not pictured: USB cable, power supply with international adapters, loomed dual 3ft balanced 1/4" TRS cables for audio out to a mixer or whatever you like.

There are loads of YouTube videos and articles online showing how great this piece of gear is and how well it fits into practically any workflow, so I'll spare you those details here. Bottom line: if you're looking to get into this sort of thing, this is a really great place to start. Once you start using a Maschine, you start to see them everywhere and understand why they're so popular.

Asking $750 for the full kit, which would otherwise cost $1070 new, and reasonable offers will absolutely be considered. I am open to splitting this up (Maschine only without software, Stand only, etc.) but would prefer to keep them together, as they make a great package. Cash only, local only, no trades please (seriously, I won't respond to trade requests; 100% not interested). Additional photos available upon request.
