He's about 95lbs of cute fluff. Between my medical conditions and my husbands shoulder surgery we aren't able to give him the attention he needs. He would do best in an active home, he loves to run and would love a fenced in yard. Because he is so strong we use a gentle lead when walking him. He knows basic commands. Not sure how he is around cats, but every dog he's been around he's been friendly with. He will come with his leash and collar and halter. And any food and treats that are left. Oh and any toys of his that are salvageable. He is pretty rough on his toys. There is a rehoming fee. Please message me with any.
