QR Code Link to This Post I did research on laughter and ticklishness during my college days. Since then I have developed a combination foot tickle/massage that is a great stress release and total mind/body healer. Laughter truly is the best medicine and feet are the doorway to the rest of the body. I'm looking for a woman with ticklish feet that likes to laugh and enjoys massage to volunteer her soles and toes for exploration. This is more for fun and to spread the joy of laughter at this point than continued research but the right volunteer could learn a lot about the art of Tickling and we could possibly work on this technique together in various ways down the road. I'm sure some fun woman out there could use a good foot rub and ticklish fit of laughter to de-stress her day. If you have the free time on your hands to volunteer why not help yourself and learn/experience something.
