I've been writing my own music for 15 years,

having my songs released for 10 years, and teaching others how they can create & improve their own music for almost 5 years!

Every week, I help people in all different styles, in all types of recording software, and at all levels of experience.

I've taught over 75 people from over 20 states and internationally, ALL in private, customized, music production lessons.

There are pricing options available to accommodate any budget. Visit my site to see all the details and tell me about your situation:
