I have helped and experience people, that allow a mechanic from Craigslist to repair their car or truck and the outcome they were unhappy.

A lot of ads are created to make a quick buck and they careless if the repair is done right.

Most people that search Craigslist is looking for good price for a good job. But often a good price ends with a bad job.

Everyone doesn't have the budget to have their car repaired by the dealership or a big name repair shop. I understand that.

I explain to people that I charge a fair price for a good repair. I have name to protect and I am in the business of doing it right.

Searching for the cheapest price will cost you more than what you should have paid, bring it to the right place.

Call us now we might be the right place for your repair
