QR Code Link to This Post The model year is 2014 in excellent, near new, condition. I love the bicycle but the extra large frame is just too big for me. I bought it used and some of the parts were missing from the rear rack. REI provided me with replacements.

Here are the REI marketing specs.

Classic touring frame accommodates fore and aft racks and fenders--rear rack provided (front rack and fenders sold separately)

Reynolds 520 chromoly frame offers great stability and strength under heavy loads, and you get the reliably smooth ride quality that steel is known for

Dependable Shimano Deore LX crankset and front derailleur, along with the super-reliable SRAM bar end shifters and X7 rear derailleur, make up the 30-speed drivetrain

The SRAM X7 rear derailleur accommodates up to a 36t rear cog for an ultra-low gear option for sweet relief when tackling mountain passes with a full load

Tektro linear-pull brakes provide reliable stopping power; wide brake arm spacing allows ample room for fenders front and back

Robust Mavic A319S 36-hole rims and puncture-resistant Continental Touring Plus Reflex tires have the durability needed to log long miles; tires also have reflective sidewalls

Riveted leather saddle is contoured and padded for support and comfort during long days on the road; leather handlebar tape offers matching style and excellent longevity.

If the bicycle is listed it is still available.
